Chris Capper:

Originally from South Africa, Chris moved to the US at an early age. He played baseball locally, attending Deer Valley High School. A bright pitching prospect, Chris graduated and went on to play baseball in college at Brigham Young University in Salt Lake City, Utah. Chris was a successful starting pitcher at BYU for 3 seasons until he was drafted by the Arizona Diamondbacks last year. Selected in the 26th round of the 2012 draft, Chris is off to a solid start and is currently playing ball within the D-Backs organization

Chas Davis:

Chas graduated from San Francisco State University with a degree in Marketing Communications. An avid player, Chas grew up in a baseball family and played throughout high school and college. He also played in the MLBAAAP Australia as a utility player and has coached. An excellent hitter, Chas regularly works with those interested in sharpening their hitting skills. He is currently working on his CSCS certification.

Kirstin Enos:

Kirstin is a skilled softball and conditioning training resource. She was born and raised in Glendale, Arizona where she attended Cactus High School. There, she was part of their 2006 State/National championship softball team. She then moved on to take a catching position at Paradise Valley Community College. She attended there for two years, subsequently enrolling at Jamestown College in North Dakota on a softball scholarship. After completing her eligibility, Kirstin took a coaching position at her university strictly working with catchers. Kirstin is currently a Catcher/Corners/Conditioning coach at Paradise Valley Community College, under the lead of Nick Candrea.

Robby Hammock:

Robby Hammock has been blessed with a three time charm, having been drafted three times. Born in Macon, Georgia, Robby was drafted for the first time by the Florida Marlins directly from high school in 1995. The second time, the Tampa Bay Devil Rays pulled his ticket after his sophomore year of Junior College. The third time, the Arizona Diamondbacks drafted Robby in the 23rd round after his junior year at the University of Georgia. Ultimately, Robby's career spanned 1998 through 2011 and 14 professional seasons during which he also played a season with both Baltimore and the New York Yankees. During his 6 seasons in the Big Leagues with the Diamondbacks, Robby caught Randy Johnson's perfect game in 2004 and managed to impress with his versatility, positive attitude and diligent work ethic. Robby continues to build upon his 12 years as a Diamondback by working for them as a hitting coach. During the off season, he makes his home at It's All In The Game as the Hitting & Catching Coordinator.

Jorge Mejia:

Originally from the Dominican Republic, Jorge has been in professional baseball for 13 years. He was first acquired by the Oakland A's as a free agent in 1999. He was later acquired in the Rule 5 Draft by the Cincinnati Reds in 2003. Jorge continues to hold two all-time records for the Arizona League with 84 hits and 134 total bases. He was an All Star with the Arizona League in 2003 and Golden League in 2009. Jorge began his coaching career with the San Diego Padres in 2011 and is currently coaching with the Washington Nationals. He spends the off season working with kids of all ages with passion and deep understanding of the game, allowing him to take players skills to the next level.

Hatuey "Chuy" Mendoza:

Hatuey "Chuy" Mendoza is a seasoned, professional pitching instructor with 15 years of professional baseball to his credit. Having played himself within both the Diamondbacks and Angels organizations, Chuy today works for the Diamondback as a roving instructor. Chuy is particularly interested in working with players who want ongoing and consistent pitching instruction. Originally from the Dominican Republic, Chuy also speaks Spanish.

Terry Pollreisz:

Terry has spent his entire career in baseball since being drafted by the Baltimore Orioles in 1969. He began coaching after his minor league career ended, and he managed his high school team to two Oregon state championships. He was a successful manager of the University of Portland baseball team for 14 years and developed the Pilot Baseball School. He recently retired from the Seattle Mariners organization, where he served as a minor league coach and manager since 1998.

Andrew Walter:

An Arizona native and graduate of Cactus High School, Andrew excelled in baseball sufficiently to play in college at the University of San Diego and Yavapai College in Prescott. While playing for the Bucs in Anchorage Alaska, Andrew was picked up as free agent by the Houston Astros. Andrew has been working on his pitching velocity in advance of starting his second full season with the Astros. While in Peoria, Andrew is available to work with those interested in his help with their pitching development.
